ALCONIX Places High in the Best CEOs of the 2017 All-Japan Executive Team Rankings by Business Sector of Institutional Investor Magazine

Eiitsu Masaki, President and CEO of ALCONIX CORPORATION, placed second in the Best CEO ranking in the basic materials/metals sector of the 2017 All-Japan Executive Team Rankings of Institutional Investor. The rankings were announced in the May 2017 issue of Institutional Investor, a globally recognized U.S. magazine for the financial community.

Institutional Investor started its best executive team rankings in 2013. Every year, the magazine uses votes received from buy-side and sell-side institutional investors and securities analysts to select publicly owned Japanese listed companies with outstanding investor relations programs. For the fiscal 2017 ranking, the magazine received votes from 1,007 institutional investors and securities analysts. ALCONIX believes that its high ranking is the result of a comprehensive evaluation of continuing activities to provide information about the ALCONIX Group, especially by the President Eiitsu Masaki who is directly involved in providing clear and easy-to-understand explanations to investors.

ALCONIX remains committed to conducting high-quality investor relations activities. The ALCONIX Group will continue to focus resources on the medium- and long-term growth of corporate value by quickly achieving the medium-term business plan vision of becoming “an integrated non-ferrous metals company that combines trading and manufacturing capabilities.”
