1. Qualitative Information on Quarterly Consolidated Financial Performance

(1) Explanation of Results of Operations

In the first quarter of the fiscal year ending March 31, 2019 (hereinafter "the period under review"), the Japanese economy remained on a gradual recovery trend against a backdrop of continued improvements in employment and corporate capital investments driven by improved corporate earnings. Meanwhile, attention should be paid to the outlook of the global economy, given concerns over the U.S. trade policies, uncertain political situations in Europe and a growing geopolitical risk in the Middle East and Asia.

The domestic information service industries have been seeing an accelerated trend of providing services typically through the cloud computing. Amid such a trend, these industries utilize the latest technologies such as AI (Artificial Intelligence) and RPA (Robotic Process Automation). Specifically in the field of the personnel and labor management, which MKSystem Corporation and its group companies (hereinafter collectively "the Group") involve, companies are increasingly motivated to invest in "HR Tech" to realize efficient and diversified ways of working in line with the government-promoted "work style reform." In this context, "HR Tech" refers to cloud personnel and labor related systems including business operation systems and talent management systems for human resources management.

Under these circumstances, the Group worked to expand its business by promoting sales of the Shalom System (which literally means a dream system for labor and social security attorneys) in the Shalom Business and by starting to provide a new cloud service called "Jinzai (human resources) CuBe Cloud" in the CuBe Business. On the other hand, the Shalom Business reported extraordinary losses of 94 million yen as a penalty concerning license fees incurred in prior periods.

As a result, for the period under review, the Group reported net sales of 415 million yen (up 5.1% year on year), cost of sales of 173 million yen (up 8.8% year on year), the ratio of cost of sales to net sales of 41.8% (up 1.5 percentage points year on year), gross profit of 242 million yen (up 2.5% year on year), operating profit of 8 million yen (down 50.1% year on year), the ratio of operating profit to net sales of 2.0% (down 2.3 percentage points year on year), ordinary profit of 8 million yen (down 53.1% year on year), and loss attributable to owners of parent of 56 million yen (compared with profit attributable to owners of parent of 14 million yen for the same quarter of the previous fiscal year). In addition, the return on equity (ROE), one of the KPIs for the Group, was negative 1.7% (compared with 4.8% for the same quarter of the previous fiscal year) on a non-consolidated basis and negative 5.6% (compared with 1.6% for the same quarter of the previous fiscal year) on a consolidated basis as a result of reporting a net loss due to the recognition of extraordinary losses.

Results by business segment were as follows.

The Shalom Business

Amid a movement to simplify overall administrative procedures promoted by the government, a growing number of companies as well as labor and social security attorney offices, our main customers, are motivated to invest in systems available for electronic application. The movement is primarily driven by an official announcement by the Ministry of Heath, Labour and Welfare that the Ministry will require large-scale corporations to introduce an electronic application system for their social insurance-related procedures from 2020. At the same time, we expect an intensified competition as we witness an increasing number of new entrants in the market for electronic application services.

Under these circumstances, we have worked to respond to revisions to various laws and regulations and encouraged customers to adopt the Shalom System by offering a campaign to discount the initial cost.

As a result, sales of the cloud service were 322 million yen (up 10.4% year on year). The amount comprises of 282 million yen (up 14.6% year on year) from ASP services thanks to the accumulation of monthly subscription fee along with a steady increase in the number of customers who use our main services, and 39 million yen (down 12.7% year on year) from system construction services thanks to new installations by the customers used the discount campaign. However, we did not receive as many orders using the subsidies under the Project to Support Introduction of IT for Improvement of Service Productivity as we did in the same quarter of the previous fiscal year. This could be accounted for a reduced amount of the subsidy and administrative burdens for customers to apply for the subsidy.

In addition, sales from system products were 26 million yen (up 9.1% year on year), and those from the other services were 1 million yen (up 145.2% year on year) due to increased My Number acquisition agent services as a result of the government's decision to require My Number information for employment insurance related filings.

Meanwhile, both cost of sales and selling, general and administrative expenses increased year on year as a result of strengthening sales activities for corporate customers and expanding our service providing structure with an increased number of workforce.

Consequently, the segment recorded net sales of 350 million yen (up 10.6% year on year), gross profit of 235 million yen (up 10.4% year on year) and operating profit of 69 million yen (up 7.8% year on year). The rate of operating profit to net sales, one of the KPIs for the Group, was 19.8% (down 0.5 percentage points year on year), which we consider should be improved in the future to exceed 20%.

The CuBe Business

On top of developing customized front-end systems for personnel and general affairs divisions of large companies for each customer to enhance their operational efficiency, the CuBe Business has started to provide cloud services that enable small and medium-sized companies to improve their usability by leveraging our know-how we have obtained through the projects customized for large companies. These front-end systems help improve operational efficiency of not only personnel and general affairs divisions but also the customer's entire organization, and they are relevant to the purpose of the government-promoted "work style reform."

In the period under review, the segment suffered a year-on-year decrease in sales due to a lack of large-scale project deliveries. However, we steadily delivered system revamp projects while engaging in the development of large scale projects for "Jinzai CuBe," which systematizes business processes related to target management and other personnel affairs, and for "Shugyo (work) CuBe," which deals with business processes including attendance management. These large-scale projects will contribute to our sales going forward.

In the cloud service business, we have already offered the "Jinzai CuBe Cloud" since April 2018 with a successful introduction to large group companies of our main customers for customized system development. We are also engaged in enhancement of the service functions and tasks to respond to revisions to laws and regulations for "Nenmatsu-chosei (year-end tax adjustment) CuBe Cloud," which we started offering in the previous fiscal year. However, while we need upfront investments and costs for service design and development activities and sales and marketing activities, sales of cloud service tend to generate and accumulate only gradually. Regarding "Net de Seisan" (which literally means expense reimbursement through the internet), which we started offering in April 2017, we integrated it to the Shalom service as the app dedicated solely for the Shalom Business customers from the period under review.

As a result, the segment recorded net sales of 65 million yen (down 16.8% year on year), gross profit of 6 million yen (down 71.5% year on year), and operating loss of 61 million yen (compared with operating loss of 47 million yen for the same period of the previous fiscal year). Operating loss of the CuBe Business reflects amortization of goodwill of 9 million yen.

The balance of non-current liabilities was 26 million yen (down 47.0% from the end of the previous fiscal year), consisting solely of long-term loans payable.

As a result, the balance of total liabilities was 929 million yen (down 10.3% from the end of the previous fiscal year).
